PREFACE

It has been the purpose of the compilers of this book to print all obtainable facts concerning GERSHOM FLAGG (born 1730) of Lancaster, Mass., and his two sons, EBENEZER FLAGG^s and GERSHOM FLAGG^s, born in 1756 and 1758 respectively, including as complete a genealogical record of all their descendants as could be obtained, and also to publish all authentic information extant, relative to their direct ancestry. We have also included, in Chapter VI, other descendants of John Flagg of Boston, Mass. (grandfather of Gershom Flagg born 1730), and in Chapter VII miscellaneous genealogical records of the family. Each passing year adds to the value and interest of such information as this book contains, and it has been largely with a view of preserving our Flagg family history for our posterity that the compilers have undertaken this task. Facts known to-day may become mere tradition to-morrow, if no pains are taken to protect their authenticity.

The preparation of this Record was really begun over thirty years ago, by Willard Cutting Flagg^s [65] of Moro, Ills., who was very desirous of perfecting the genealogy of the Flagg family, and who, by correspondence and investigations extending over several years, had collected, before his untimely death in 1878, a large portion of the family history which is now put in a permanent form. The immediate cause of the appearance of this book is a letter written 10 Apr., 1903 by Lucius C. S. Flagg^s [820] to Norman Gershom Flagg^s [71], reviving the correspondence begun by their fathers thirty years before and asking whether the genealogical facts collected by Willard C. Flagg were still obtainable.

The compilers can not express too strongly their gratitude to Mr. J. C. L. Clark of Lancaster, Mass., for the valuable aid he has so cheerfully given them, in the investigation of old family history, court records, etc. Without Mr. Clark's co-operation, some of the most interesting as well as valuable features of this book must have been omitted. In July, 1903, Mr. L. C. S. Flagg [820] and his wife visited the old-time homes of the Flaggs in Lancaster and in Boston, in quest of information, and were very materially assisted in the work by Mr. Clark.

While the task of gathering the facts contained in these family records has been arduous, it has also been an entertaining work, in which happily the most of the relatives have shown a very encouraging interest. By perusing the following pages, we may now locate all our cousins of Flagg descent, and they are found to be scattered throughout the length and breadth of the land, from Maine to California, from southern Texas to Minnesota. The re-uniting of a father and only son who had lost all trace of one another for twenty-five years (in Chapter IV) has been ample reward for the huge amount of correspondence required in compiling that Chapter. In a few instances, where repeated requests for information have brought no reply, we have been compelled to print an incomplete family record. As far as possible, the compilers have tried to avoid the usual dryness incident to any collection of mere dates and names; many photographs have been inserted and short biographical sketches have been prepared of many relatives. In Chapter III will be found a picture of the FLAGG "Slate Rocks" in Lancaster, Mass.; in Chapter IV is a facsimile of the commission of Dr. Ebenezer Flagg as sergeant in the Revolutionary war.

With the exception of two chapters, this family record is the joint work of the two compilers; Chapter IV, relating to Dr. Ebenezer Flagg, has been prepared by his great grandson Norman Gershom Flagg [71], and Chapter V, relating to Gershom Flagg, has been prepared by his great grandson Lucius Collins Strong Flagg [820]. The records in Chapter VI have been largely furnished by Mr. Ernest Flagg, Architect, 35 Wall Street, New York. To their many cousins of Flagg descent, the compilers would express the fervent wish that their kinship, as revealed in these pages, may result in many and enduring friendships, among relatives heretofore unknown to one another.

FAMILY RECORDS

Numerous public records and various works, including a History of Norfolk, [in Library of Congress, Washington, and Library of the New England Historic Genealogical Society, Boston], Dr. Bond's History of Watertown, Mass., and North's History of Augusta, Maine, have been consulted, as reliable authorities, in obtaining the history of the Flaggs.

The abbreviations used will explain themselves, and are uniform throughout the book. Each individual in the Chapters IV, V and VI is given a number in brackets [], which identifies him, wherever mentioned in the record. The superior number, as Gershom⁷, indicates to which generation in America the individual belongs, Thomas Flegg¹ being the first. SMALL CAPITALS indicate the family name, after marriage, of daughters of Flagg descent. Italics indicate the maiden name of the wife, before marriage into a family of Flagg descent.

Realizing the imperfections of our work, but trusting that our relatives will be lenient toward us in consideration of our most profound inexperience along such lines, the compilers have published these records, bearing in mind the while these words from John G. Saxe:

*“Depend upon it, my snobbish friend,
Your family thread you can't ascend
Without good reason to apprehend
You may find it waxed at the farther end
By some plebeian vocation;
Or, worse than that, your boasted line
May end in a loop of stronger twine,
That plagued some worthy relation.”*

CHAPTER I

THE DE FLEGGS IN ENGLAND

The family of DE FLEGG was seated in the latter part of the twelfth century in the county of Norfolk, on the east coast of England, and bears the name of the Hundreds of East and West Flegg in that county, where they held grants of land in the reign of Henry II.

"In the south-eastern corner of Norfolk there is a dense Danish settlement occupying the Hundreds of East and West Flegg [from the Norse word "flegg" or Danish "vlak," meaning flat], a space some eight miles by seven, well protected on every side by the sea and the estuaries of the Bure and the Yare."— [From "Words and Places," by Isaac Taylor, 1885].

Sir Henry Spellman supposes that "the Danes made here their first settlement in England, as the nearest part of Norfolk to the sea, being well secured by its site, water, etc. to maintain themselves therein and also from the names of towns ending in "by", a Danish suffix for an habitation or village."

The Britons and the Romans also are supposed to have had settlements here at an early date.

That the family was not of Saxon origin is indicated by their residence in this Danish settlement, their affiliations with Norman families so soon after the reign of William the Conqueror and their connection, in official positions, with the Roman Catholic Church. It is probable that they were either Danes or Norman-French, and took their name from the Danish Hundreds where they held grants of land, the Norman-French "de Flegg" meaning "of Flegg."

FAMILY RECORDS

The two Hundreds of East and West Flegg make up the Deanery of Flegg in the Archdeaconry of Norwich. How they received their name is not known and little is known of them till the reign of King Stephen, who, by letters patent, granted these two Hundreds to Henry, his nephew, then abbot, and the monks of Saint Bennett.

Flegg Hall, the seat of the family in Norfolk in feudal times, is referred to in the History of Norfolk, 1805-1810 [Library of the New England Historic Genealogical Society, Boston], Vol. XI, page 194, as follows:

"Flegg Hall: Sir John de Flegg was Lord in right of Margaret, his wife. The Fleggs had an interest in this town [Winterton] in the reign of Henry II, when John, Bishop of Norwich, and Gerard the prior and convent, granted in fee to Henry, son of Algar de Flegg, eight acres and three roods of land here in soccage, and ten acres in Dodsholm which Nigel formerly held of them, at 4s. 4d. per annum. Witnesses, Geffry, the Archdeacon. Arthur, Roger and William de Flegg were witnesses to a charter of Eberard, Bishop of Norwich."

The history of Norfolk, England, 1781 [Library of Congress, Washington, D. C.], Vol. IV, page 53, contains the following:

"Flegg Hall: In the reign of Richard I, Theobald de Valoines granted to Henry de Flegg all the fee which he held of him in Winterton and Somerton for 3s. per annum for which he formerly paid 20s. sans date.

"In the reign of Henry III, Sir William de Flegg sold it to the de Mautebys, and it was brought by marriage to the Pastons. John Paston, Esq., died fiefed of Mauteby and Flegg Manors, in the 6th of Edward IV, 1466, which extended into East and West Somerton; and Sir William Paston was found to die Lord of Winterton, Mauteby Manor, held of the Dean and Chapter of Norwich in soccage in the year 1611. In the year 1740 the Earl of Yarmouth [a Paston] was Lord."

The following genealogy and that in Chapter II has been compiled from histories of Norfolk, records of Herald's Visitations, and the lineage given in North's History of Augusta, Maine,

FAMILY RECORDS

1870, which states that "The lineage down to William Flegg, of Swafield, living in 1521, was compiled from MSS. in the British Museum and Rymeri Fœdera, Inquis. Post Mortem, and Escheats. The remainder chiefly from wills in the Consistory Court, Norwich."

In the reign of Henry II there were living in the county of Norfolk, two brothers, ALGER DE FLEGG and HENRY DE FLEGG. Henry was Prior of Norwich in 1168.
The brother,

ALGER DE FLEGG, was living in 1160.

His son,

HENRY DE FLEGG, of Flegg Hall and Hickling in the Hundred of West Flegg, county Norfolk, in 1204, is mentioned in records of Herald's Visitations in the 1st year of the reign of King John [1199] as holding patents to three divisions of land. [Library of Congress, Washington, D. C].

His son,

JOHN DE FLEGG, of Flegg Hall, by Beatrix, his wife, had issue, three sons,

- I. JOHN [Sir], of whom presently.
- II. THOMAS, of Swafield, county Norfolk, in 1241.
"Thomas Flegg and Dionisia, his wife, convey to John Flegg a messuage, with lands and a foldcourse here [Swafield] in the 33rd of Henry III." [History of Norfolk]. He, by Dionisia, his wife, had issue, three sons,
 1. Roger, who, in 1307, was Vicar General of the order of Friars of Penetentia Jesu, at Lynn.
 2. Arthur.
 3. William.
- III. SIMON, living in the 41st of Henry III, had son, Simon, Prior of Haverland.

The son,

SIR JOHN DE FLEGG, of Flegg Hall, 1228, Lord of Flegg and Bassingham Manors. This feudal lord married Margaret, daughter of Sir Piers de Bassingham, Lord, of Bassingham

FAMILY RECORDS

Manor, who left three daughters and coheirs; Christian, the eldest, married Sir Walter de Mauteby. Sir John was lord of Bassingham Manor in right of Margaret, his wife.

Their heir,

SIR WILLIAM DE FLEGG, of Flegg Hall, living in the 53rd of Henry III, 1268, sold Flegg Manor to the de Mautebys. His heir, WILLIAM LE FLEGHT [or FLEGG] released to Walter de Mauteby all his right and title in the manor of Bassingham, that of West Beckham and Matalak, in the 6th of Edward I, 1277. John de Mauteby was Lord in the 9th of Edward II, 1315.

The following members of this family, whose relationship has not been ascertained, were all of the county of Norfolk:

WILLIAM DE FLEGG, born at Hofton, 1316.

HENRY DE FLEGG, living in 1320.

THOMAS FLEGG, died 1378.

JOHN FLEGG.

WILLIAM FLEGG, died 1426, of whom we treat in the beginning of Chapter II.

From Edward Hasted's "Kent County." (extract.)

"Folkestone Hundred. Hawking Parish."

Fleggs Court (or Hawking Manor) anciently held of the Barony of Folkestone or Averanches, by knights service and ward to Dover Castle, by a family who took their surname from it. After they were extinct, it came into the possession of the Fleghs, continuing until reign of Edward I (1272-1307) in the 23rd of which, William, son of John de Flegh, gave all his manor in the Hundred of Folkestone in Hawking and Evering together with the church of Hawking to the Abbot and convent of St. Radigund, at which time the mansion of this manor had acquired its present name of Flegh's Court."

These arms were borne by the family in Norfolk as late as 1768, and are on a mural tablet in Norfolk.

The Fleggs who removed from Norfolk to Bray, in Berkshire, also bore the arms. Burke's Encyclopædia of Heraldry records these arms to "Flegg of Bray, county Berks," and also records the following arms:

Flegg. Argent a chevron engrailed gu.

Fleggh. Per pale, argent and or, on a chevron.

The "Return of Owners of Land, 1873" (commonly known as the Modern Domesday Book) records two Fleggs owning land in county Norfolk and three in London, in that year. Mr. William Martin Flegg and his son, Mr. James Minter Flegg, of the firm of Flegg and Son, Solicitors, 3 Laurence Pountney Hill, Cannon Street, London, E. C., England, are of the county Norfolk family. Mr. James Minter Flegg is member for the ward of Dowgate in the London Common Council. Shipdham, Whinbergh and Yaxham, parishes in Norfolk where the Fleggs resided, are situated in close proximity to the town and parish of East Dereham and railway station of Dereham, 16 miles north-west of Norwich and 123 miles north-east of London by rail.

A "Gazateer of the British Isles, 1893," contains the following:

CHAPTER III

THE FLAGG LINEAGE FROM THOMAS FLEGG¹ OF WATERTOWN, MASS., TO GERSHOM FLAGG⁵ (BORN 1730) OF LANCASTER, MASS.

The Genealogical Dictionary of New England Settlers states that "Thomas Flegg of Watertown (Mass.) came as servant of Richard Carver from Scratby in the hundred of East Flegg, Co. Norfolk, a few miles north of Yarmouth, where they emigrated 1637."

So his descendants must not claim that their ancestor came over in the Mayflower, neither will they claim that he was driven from England by the religious persecutions of the times. For, if the family tradition is correct, a love affair brought Thomas Flegg to New England. In the words of our kinsman Charles A. Flagg, of the Library of Congress, Washington, "The tradition of Thomas is that he loved a girl in station below his own; their union was opposed by his family, so they decided to emigrate, and did so, coming in two vessels which sailed in company, and marrying soon after arrival. We do not know the maiden name of the wife Mary, nor date of marriage."

"The record in Hotten gives Thomas Flegg as servant of Richard Carver. That he was not a servant in the usual meaning of the word is sufficiently attested by his appearing in Watertown very soon after as a landowner, and later serving as Selectman. This was a post of real honor in the early days, and the social distinctions were carefully observed. A more careful investigation than I have ever found time to make would probably show that Flegg's relation to Carver was for the voyage only, and was necessitated by some English law requiring that unmarried men below a certain age could not leave the country unless in the train of some man of family."

"At all events, I am told by those who have examined the Watertown records that Thomas was not a very good Puritan, that he fell under church discipline more than once, so whatever the cause of his emigrating, it evidently was not for conscience's sake."

We find further in Dr. Bond's History of Watertown, Mass., p. 219, that "Thomas Flegg settled in Watertown as early as 1641, and was probably the ancestor of all families bearing that name in this country. He was Selectman 1671, '74, '75, '76, '78, '81, '85, and '87. He lost his left eye by a gunshot accident, previous to 1659."

Thomas Flegg was a son of Bartholomew Flegg, as mentioned in the previous chapter, and was baptised in 1615. Leaving Strathby, England in 1637, he sailed in either the "ROSE" or the "JOHN and DOROTHY"—the two ships sailing in company.

"A Register of persons about to pass into forraigne parts.

A. D. 1637. 13 Charles I.

These people went to New England with William Andrews of Ipswich, Mr. (Master) of the John and Dorothy of Ipswich, and with William Andrews, his son, Mr. of the Rose, of Yarmouth.

April 11, 1637. The examination of Richard Carucar, of Strathby, in the County of Norfolk, husbandman, aged 60 years, and Grace, his wife, aged 40 years, with two children, Elizabeth aged 18 years, and Susanna aged 18 years, being twynnes.

Mor. 3 servants, Isaace Hartt aged 22 years, and Thomas Flege aged 21 years, and one Marable Underwood, a mayd servant aged 20 years; goes all for New England, to inhabitt and remaine."

(From manuscript preserved in the State Paper department of His Majesty's Public Record Office, England).

Whether this "Marable Underwood" is the "Mary", who married Thomas Flegg soon after his arrival in Massachusetts is a matter of conjecture; for Thomas' sweetheart may have crossed the ocean in the other ship, or may not have been in Carver's family, if on the same vessel. Dr. Bond's History of Watertown states that Mary, wife of Thomas Flegg was born 1619, which would make her two years younger than "Marable" was said to be.

As to the location of Thomas Flegg's real estate holdings in Massachusetts, we find in Dr. Bond's History of Watertown:—"Thomas Flagg (Flegg) of Watertown, as early as 1641; died 1698; proprietor of two lots in 1644, one of which was the great Dividend lot of 20 acres granted to John Rose; the other, a homestall of 6 acres, bounded S. by Main St., W. by E. How, N. by J. Bemis, E. by R. Harrington." And on page 1092:—"The next west of Harrington was the 6 acre homestall of Thomas Flagg (Flegg), and it was probably his permanent residence. He was not the original grantee of it, nor do the records show to whom it was granted." A map of the original allotments of land in Watertown is included in the History above quoted, and shows that Thomas Flegg's homestall of six acres was in the extreme south-west part of Watertown, one-half mile north of the Charles river and almost adjoining the town of Waltham, being on the "Sudbury road", now Main St.

Thomas Flegg was never admitted "freeman", but was "released from training Apr., 165-, by paying the Co. 5s. per annum, and was fully released therefrom by the Court 5 Apr., 1681, when his eldest son was 40 yrs. old." He died 6 Feb., 1698, and was probably buried in "The Old Graveyard of Watertown," situated at the S. E. corner of Mt. Auburn St., and Grove St., that being the only cemetery in the vicinity of Watertown until 1704 (see Hist. of Watertown, p. 1043).

The will of Thomas Flegg, dated 5 Mar., 1697 and proved 16 Feb., 1698, mentions only a part of his children, namely, the sons Thomas, Michael, Allen, and Benjamin, and the daughter Rebecca Cook (the eldest son Gershom was already dead). The will of his wife Mary, dated 30 Dec., 1702 (the year preceding her death), mentions only the son Benjamin and the daughters Mary Bigelow, Elizabeth Bigelow, and Rebecca Cook, Samuel Bigelow being executor.

Eleven children were born to Thomas and Mary Flegg, the eldest being GERSHOM, with whose descendants this Record is particularly concerned.

(See Chapter VII for complete list of Thomas Flegg's children and for explanation of change of spelling the name, Flegg—Flagg.)

THE SECOND GENERATION IN AMERICA.

LIEUT. GERSHOM FLAGG².

The eldest son of Thomas Flegg was GERSHOM FLAGG, born in Watertown, Mass., 16 April, 1641. He settled in Woburn, Mass., and there married 15 April, 1668, Hannah Leppingwell, who was born 6 Jan., 1647-8 in Woburn, the daughter of Mitchell Leppingwell. To this union ten children were born, of whom the third child JOHN FLAGG is the ancestor of the families included within this Record.

Lieut. Gershom Flagg was admitted freeman in Watertown 27 May, 1676, and, according to North's History of Augusta, Maine, he was slain by Indians at Lamprey River, N. H., 6 July, 1690,—presumably while on an expedition against Port Royal, Acadia, in French territory. His widow married 10 Dec., 1696 Ensign Israel Walker, whose first wife had died 9 Mar., 1694.

(See Chapter VII for complete list of Gershom Flagg's children.)

THE THIRD GENERATION IN AMERICA.

JOHN FLAGG³.

Of Lieut. Gershom Flagg's ten children, the third child and third son was JOHN, who was born 25 May, 1673, probably in Woburn, Mass.; he moved to Boston about 1700, and died there about 1732, his will being proved 19 Dec. of that year. He married previous to 1700 Abiah Kornic, a native of England. He and his wife sold land in Woburn in 1699, and in 1717 he purchased an estate on Hanover Street in Boston, of Samuel Vickers, where the American House now stands (1906). According to Dr. Bond's Watertown, John Flagg was a tanner.

"By his will he gave his negro boy Pompey to his son Ebenezer forever, and his house and land on Hanover Street to his son Gershom, upon his paying the other heirs their respective portion of its appraised value. His wife died 3 Sept., 1715, and was buried in the Granary burying ground, Tremont Street, Boston, where a stone with an inscription marks her grave. Four of her children were buried by the side of her grave." (North's Augusta.)

Lucius C. S. Flagg visited the grave of Abiah Flagg in 1904, and found it situated about midway between the tomb of John Hancock and that of Benjamin Franklin's parents, in what is now called the "Old Granary Burying-ground." On her tombstone is inscribed:—"Here lyes ye body of Abiah Flagg, wife to John Flagg, d. Sept. 3, 1715." And on the headstones of four of the children appear the following:—"Mr. Gershom Flagg, died March 23, 1771, aged 66." "Hannah Flagg, died Dec. 12, 1702, aged 1 yr. 8 mos." "Ebenezer Flagg, died Aug. 27, 1708, aged 4 yrs." "Thomas Flagg, died Sept., 1713, aged 1 yr."

Regarding the bequests in John Flagg's will, Benjamin A. G. Fuller, himself a Flagg by descent (see Chapter VII), made the following comments before the New England Genealogical Society in 1872:—"This (the negro) was Ebenezer's sole inheritance, yet, with Pompey alone, he seems to have made some headway in the world, as he afterwards married Mary, the daughter of Gov. Samuel Ward, of R. I., and his oldest son (Henry Collins) married the widow of Washington Allston's father. Whether his father's bequest of the boy Pompey "forever" still holds good, I am unable to state. Gershom was the executor of his father's will, and came into possession and ownership of the homestead, which was situate upon the spot now occupied by the American House, on Hanover St."

FAMILY RECORDS

John and Abiah Flagg were the parents of nine children, whose names are given in Chapter VII. Their third child was ELEAZER FLAGG, who we shall see later on was the grandfather of the two soldier boys of '76, Ebenezer and Gershom. Their seventh child was the Ebenezer Flagg above mentioned as the owner of "Pompey", and this Ebenezer Flagg, of Boston, had a grandson Henry Collins Flagg, Jr., of Newport, R. I., whose granddaughter Alice Gwynne married Cornelius Vanderbilt and is the mother of Cornelius and Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt. (See Chapters VI and VII for full record.)

THE FOURTH GENERATION IN AMERICA.

ELEAZER FLAGG⁴.

Of ELEAZER FLAGG⁴ little is known; he was born in Boston 12 Feb., 1703, and was at one time an inn-keeper there. In a deed of date 1740, we find Eleazer Flagg mentioned as a "Retailor" of Boston.

He purchased from Daniel Johnson and other heirs of Samuel Johnson deceased of Lancaster, 24 Nov., 1740, the famous slate-quarry property, situated four miles N. E. of Lancaster Center, in the extreme north end of the town, not far from the Shirley line. In the words of Rev. Peter Whitney in his History of Worcester Co., published in 1793, "this slate pit is fine and valuable and perhaps inexhaustible, furnishing slate and tiles for the roofs of houses, and most excellent stones for graves. This was first discovered by a Mr. Flagg. The slates have been in use about forty years. The quarry is now (1793) owned by Joseph Wales. No slates equal to these have yet been discovered on the Continent." A. P. Marvin says of the slate-quarry (1878):—It was sometimes called the Shaker quarry, perhaps because the Shakers (of the community of Shirley) were employed to take the slate to Boston with great ox-teams. Facilities of transportation enabled other quarrymen to undersell the owners, and the work ceased more than fifty years ago. The mine filled with water and so remained till 1877, when a Welshman re-opened it, and found it to be one of the best slate-quarries in the world."

To these notes Mr. J. C. L. Clark, Town clerk of Lancaster (1904) adds:—"The Welshman's experiment must have been unsuccessful, for some fifteen years ago, when I visited the quarry, it was deserted and full of water, just as Willard describes it in 1826." By courtesy of Mr. Clark a recent photograph of this slate-quarry is placed in this Record. Partly as a matter of curiosity on account of the quaint wording of the instrument, one of the five or six deeds (all of equal length), by which Eleazer Flagg became owner of the quarry, is here copied:

FAMILY RECORDS

As there has been some discussion among the Flagg descendants as to which of the Flaggs owned this "slate-rocks", Mr. Clark has examined all records very carefully. While GERSHOM FLAGG^s of Lancaster, with whom this Record especially deals, never was owner of the property, his father certainly was, of which the foregoing deeds are sufficient evidence. At the death of Eleazer Flagg in 1749, to avoid a forced sale of the Lancaster property, the Court settled this "slate-rocks" together with other real estate upon Eleazer's daughter Mary, wife of Garven (Gawen) Brown. Upon Mary's death soon after, Eleazer's brother Gershom Flagg (b. 1705) purchased the Lancaster real estate from G. Brown, and he in turn bequeathed it to his son Gershom (b. 1743), who moved from Lancaster to Clinton, Maine, in 1789, selling the quarry to Joseph Wales.

The poetess, Hannah Flagg Gould, a grand-daughter of Gershom Flagg (b. 1705), mentions the slate-rocks in her prose volume "Gathered Leaves."

Eleazer Flagg married Mary Buck, of Scituate, presumably in the spring of 1724, for their intentions of marriage were declared 17 Feb., 1724 (From Boston Marriages from 1700 to 1751). He probably passed his entire life in Boston, and his son William lived in the Boston home after his father's death in 1749; the son GERSHOM^s [1] lived on the Lancaster farm, as is shown by memoranda of the estate. At Eleazer Flagg's death, his brother Gershom (b. 1705) administered the estate, according to the Suffolk Co. Mass. Registry of Probate, case 9832:—"15 Oct., 1749, Gershom Flagg, of Boston, housewright and glazier, appointed administrator of the estate of his brother, Eleazer Flagg, late of Boston, innholder. Bondsmen, Joseph Callender and Joseph Callender, Jr., bakers."

A complete list of the real and personal property of Eleazer Flagg has been furnished, through the kindness of Mr. J. C. L. Clark, of Lancaster, and is as follows:

To Eleazer Flagg and Mary (Buck) Flagg were born six children:

I. Eleazer, b. 6 Nov., 1725; m. Arabethiah; d. in London about 1751-2 probably without issue.

*These results are obviously wrong.

FAMILY RECORDS

II. Mary, b. 18 Mar., 1728; m. Garven (Gawen) Brown; d. prior to July, 1760.

III. GERSHOM of LANCASTER, b. 10 June, 1730. (See next record).

IV. William, b. 10 July, 1732; m. 22 Apr., 1756 Sally Mecom, a niece of Benjamin Franklin; his eldest child was Josiah Flagg (b. 1760), Town Clerk of Lancaster, Mass., for thirty four years.

V. Sarah, b. 18 July, 1733; m. John Newman of Boston.

VI. Abiah, b. 2 Jan., 173-; m. Jacob Homer of Boston.

While Lancaster was, at one time, the home of a number of Flagg families, there is now (1906) no one of that name living there; two children of the above named Josiah Flagg (b. 1760), being grandchildren of Eleazer's son William (b. 1732,) namely, Sally Flagg (b. 19 Nov., 1791) and Samuel Ward Flagg (b. 22 Apr., 1803) were the last Flaggs to live in Lancaster. In Feb., 1853, Willard Flagg Bliss [316] visited them in South Lancaster, and obtained much valuable genealogical history from them, which has been of assistance in compiling this book. Samuel Ward Flagg died in 1871 and Sally Flagg died in 1881, aged 90 years, the last of the Lancaster Flaggs.

THE FIFTH GENERATION IN AMERICA.

GERSHOM FLAGG⁵ OF LANCASTER.

[1] GERSHOM FLAGG⁵, third child and second son of Eleazer and Mary (Buck) Flagg, was born 10 June, 1730, presumably in Boston, for his parents lived in that city many years prior and subsequent to that date. He was a housewright and a slater by trade, and moved to Lancaster, Mass., before attaining his majority. Why Gershom Flagg left Boston to make his home in Lancaster, we can only surmise, but at least two reasons seem evident. First, his father Eleazer Flagg had, in 1740, purchased the "Slate-Rocks" situated four miles from Lancaster Center: and a second and more sentimental reason is suggested by the following record, copied from the Lancaster Register of births, deaths and marriages:

FAMILY RECORDS

"Gershom Flagg entered his intentions of marriage with Mary Willard, Nov. ye 14, 1750." [Lancaster Register.]

They were married "Dec. ye 6, 1750, by Jos. Wilder, Junn." Mary Willard was the daughter of Aaron and Mary Willard, of Lancaster, and was born 21 Jan., 1729.

In a letter dated Lee, N. H., 13 Feb., 1853, after a visit to Lancaster, Willard Flagg Bliss [316] wrote as follows concerning the old homestead of his greatgrandfather Gershom Flagg [1]: "I was shown where the barn stood, where the tree stood which bore such great plums and the apple trees still bearing from which our ancestors ate. Our greatgrandfather is described as 'a spare light-complected man straight as a candle and a great hand for business.' I drank from the old well which is said to be sunk several feet into the solid rock; it is said in summer to be the best water in Massachusetts. I have a piece of the slate which came from the roof of the old house and which our great-grandfather probably made with his own hands."

While slating the house of Dr. Gardner, of Boston—according to the family tradition this house was situated between Boston and Lancaster—Gershom Flagg fell and was killed. He is said to have worn a cape-coat, while on the roof on a windy day, and was blown off, striking upon his feet, but lived only long enough for his wife to reach him. He died 28 Dec., 1758, aged twenty-eight years.

The widow Mary (Willard) Flagg was admitted administratrix of the estate of "Gershom Flagg, late of Lancaster, housewright, deceased," on the fifth of Feb., 1759, her bondsmen being Simon Willard and Nathaniel Willard, yeomen. 8 Feb., appraisers were appointed, and 28 May, their inventory was filed. Through the kindness of J. C. L. Clark, Town Clerk of Lancaster (1906), it is possible to give below a very quaint and interesting copy, verbatim, of the inventory of Gershom Flagg's personal estate:—(Worcester Co. Probate Records, series A, case 21214).

The administratrix's account was accepted 7 Aug., 1761.

Gershom Flagg's widow married again 17 Sept., 1761 to William Phelps, and lived in Lancaster until her death 22 Sept., 1807 (according to letter of that date written by her nephew Josiah Flagg to her son Ebenezer Flagg,—letter in possession of Mrs. Mary Willard Flagg-Gillham, Wanda, Ills., 1906). There can be little doubt that both Gershom Flagg and his wife were buried in a Lancaster cemetery, but no stones can be found to mark the location of their graves.

The children of Gershom and Mary (Willard) Flagg were:

I. Mary, born 27 April, 1753; she married JOHN BAKER, and had three children:—John K., Thomas, and Charles. John

FAMILY RECORDS

K. Baker was a printer in Burlington, Vermont, in 1800, and published the "Northern Sentinel" in 1801; he subsequently moved to Plattsburg, N. Y., where he was proprietor of a hotel. Azariah C. Flagg [4] was a printer's apprentice under him from 1801 to 1806.

II. EBENEZER FLAGG, born 7 April, 1756 [2] (see Chapter IV.)

III. GERSHOM FLAGG, born 11 April, 1758 [601] (see Chapter V.)

When Gershom Flagg⁵ of Lancaster [1] died, 28 Dec., 1758, from a fall while slating a roof, he left a widow Mary (Willard) Flagg and three young children,—the daughter Mary⁶ aged five years, the son EBENEZER⁶ [2] aged two and one-half years, and the infant son GERSHOM⁶ [601] eight months old.

Aaron Willard, brother of Mary (Willard) Flagg, was, at her request, appointed guardian of the children, Mary, Ebenezer, and Gershom, as is shown by the following petition:

"to John Chandler Esqr. Judge Pro for Worcester County, I desire my Bro Capt Aaron Willard may be appointed Guardian to my three Children by late husband Gershom Flagg late of Lancaster, housewright Deed.

(dated) March 17, 1759

Mary Flagg

Subsequently, 9 Jan., 1771, Abel Willard of Lancaster was appointed guardian of Mary and Ebenezer, and 31 March, 1773, of Gershom also.

(Worcester Co. Probate Records, Series A, Case 21, 17S).

CHAPTER IV

EBENEZER FLAGG (born 1756) AND HIS DESCENDANTS, COMPLETE TO 1906.

It is probable that Ebenezer Flagg spent his entire youth in Lancaster, Mass. No further record of him is obtainable until 1775, when he enlisted in the Continental Army. Inasmuch as the Mass. War Records and the Government Records in Washington differ slightly in describing Ebenezer Flagg's service during the Revolution, both records are here given complete:

(From Vol. V, page 749, Mass. Soldiers and Sailors of Revolutionary War, published by Secretary of the Commonwealth, Boston.)

“FLAGG, EBENEZER, Lancaster (also given Harvard)—private, Capt. Jno. Prescott's Co., which marched to alarm of Apr. 19, 1775 to Cambridge, service 8 days; also, Private, Capt. Jas. Burt's Co., Col. Asa Whitecomb's regiment; muster roll dated Aug. 1st, 1775, service 1 month, 1 day; also, same Co. and regt.; Co. return (probably Oct., 1775) reported enlisted into the train May 24, 1775; also, Capt. Jno. Pokkin's Co., Col. Richard Gridley's (artillery) regt; company receipt for advance pay, dated Winter Hill, July 14, 1775; also same Co. and regt., muster roll dated Aug. 1, 1775; enlisted May 24, 1775, service 2 mo., 13 da.; also same Co. and regt., Co. return dated Sept. 27, 1775, residence Harvard; also same Co. and regt., order for bounty coat or its equivalent in money, dated Winter Hill, Jan. 13, 1776; also return of men raised to serve in the Continental army from Capt. Jno. White Jrs. Co., 2nd Worcester Co. regt., dated Lancaster, Dec. 20, 1777; residence Lancaster, engaged for town of Lancaster, joined Capt. Bryant's Co., Col. Crain's regt., term 3 years; also, list of men mustered by Nathaniel Barder, muster master for Suffolk Co., dated Boston, Mar. 30, 1777, Col. Crain's regt.; also, descriptive list of men raised to reinforce Continental army for the term of six months, agreeable to resolve of June 5, 1780, returned as received by Justin Ely, Comm'r., by Brig. Gen. John Glover at Springfield, July 13, 1780, age 24 years, stature 6 ft., 1 inch, complexion light; engaged for town of Lancaster, marched to Camp July 13, 1780, under Capt. Thos. Pritchard; also list of men raised for six mo. service and returned by Brig. Gen. Pater-son as having passed muster in a return dated Camp Totoway, Oct. 25, 1780; also Sergeant pay roll for 6 months, men raised by town of Lancaster for service in the Continental army during 1780, marched to West Point July 14, 1780, discharged Dec. 23, 1780, service 5 mo., 9 days."

FAMILY RECORDS

From the office of the Military Secretary, War Dept., Wash-ington, D. C., is obtained the following record of Ebenezer Flagg:

EBENEZER FLAGG served as a sergeant of Captain Benjamin Frothingham's Company (of which John Bryant was cap-tain-lieutenant), 3rd Artillery Regiment, Continental Troops, commanded by Colonel John Crane, Revolutionary war. He was enlisted January 1, 1777, for three years, and his name ap-pears on a muster roll of the company dated at Springfield, May 2, 1778, which shows him "sick in hospital"; also that he served as a sergeant of the 10th Massachusetts Regiment, commanded by Colonel Thomas Marshall, Revolutionary war. He was en-listed July 13, 1780, for the term of six months, and was discharged December 10, 1780.

In August, 1851, Ebenezer Flagg's eldest son Artemas [3] presented his nephew Willard C. Flagg [65] with a revolutionary relic, in the shape of an order, dated Springfield, Oct. 17, 1777, over the signature of "John Bryant, Capt.", commanding "the bearer Ebenezer Flagg sergeant in my company" to arrest a deserter. This document is (1906) in possession of Norman Gershom Flagg [71], Moro, Ills., as is also the original Commis-sion of his greatgrandfather Ebenezer Flagg as sergeant in the "Cols. Company of Foot," of the 10th Mass. Regiment; both documents are still partly legible, and a photograph of the Com-mission is printed herewith, slightly reduced in size from the original, and reads as follows:

Ebenezer Flagg was born in Lancaster, Mass., 7 Apr., 1756, and died in Richmond, Vt., 17 Feb., 1828. Soon after the Revolutionary war, he moved from Mass. to Vermont, Rutland Co.; the exact date is unobtainable, but it was previous to 1785. Our only information as to his personal appearance is obtained from the above quoted war record, stating that he was six feet one inch in height and of light complexion. He is supposed to have studied and practiced medicine, even while serving in the army, and is addressed as “Doctor” by his cousin Josiah Flagg, of Lancaster, Mass., in a letter written 25 Apr., 1784. He was “Doct. Ebenezer Flagg”, of Clarendon, Rutland Co., Vt. on 21 May, 1785. Before 1789 he had removed to Orwell, Vt.; for on 29 Jan., 1789, he bought of Eliphalet Smith 46½ acres land for £100. lawful money, situate in Orwell. He purchased 50 Acres more 8 Apr., 1796, from Frederic Owens for £65, in the same locality.

While living in Orwell, he married Elizabeth Cutting, of Shoreham, Vt., b.....d. 17 May, 1838, at Richmond, Vt. About the autumn of 1799, he removed to a permanent home in Richmond, Vt., where he purchased a partially improved farm, and spent the remainder of his life, practicing his profession and farming.

To the Hon. Secy. of the Navy

Washington, D.C. 1864

Dear Sir, I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 10th inst. in relation to the proposed purchase of the schooner "Albatross" for the service of the Navy.

I have conferred with the proper authorities and they are of opinion that the purchase of the "Albatross" is not advisable at this time, as the vessel is not of the class required for the service of the Navy.

I am, Sir, very respectfully,
Yours, very truly,
John D. Long

Secretary of the Navy

Washington, D.C.

Enclosed for the Hon. Secy. of the Navy are two copies of the report of the Board of Commissioners on the subject of the proposed purchase of the "Albatross".

I am, Sir, very respectfully,
Yours, very truly,

FAMILY RECORDS

Ebenezer Flagg was "a man of strict honesty, who did a great amount of business for other people, even to the neglect of his own. This was the reason, so said one of his sons, he never accumulated more property, and used to be a source of some difficulty between him and his wife. She often said he did more business for his neighbors than for himself." (Extract from letter of his grandson Gershom H. Flagg [18]); also from the same source the following:

"The old Flagg homestead (at Richmond, Vt.) was partly cleared when Grandfather bought it; the buildings he put on himself, also the orchard; it is nearly gone (1875), a few trees are bearing yet. The house has been taken down and built over, the barn is still standing, the well is good. The land owned by Grandmother is now owned by an Irishman named Clarek, and the farm has all gone out of our name."

The old home was six miles from the village of Richmond, on the Hinesburgh road, and its exact location is still known. "There used to be, on the old road, two large trees that were shade for the old Flagg homestead, and the cellar was there for years; I used to visit the place when I was a youngster." (Letter from Ralph E. Jones [32] a great-grandson). Ten miles from the village, in the Old Hill Cemetery, on a high hill commanding a most beautiful view of the Winooski valley, are buried the remains of Ebenezer Flagg and Elizabeth his wife. Issue:

Artemus Flegg [3]

THE ARTEMAS FLAGG FAMILY, 3.

[3] ARTEMAS FLAGG⁷, eldest child of Ebenezer⁶ and Elizabeth (Cutting) Flagg, was born 17 Feb., 1789, at Orwell, Vt., died 14 Aug., 1874, at Richmond, Vt. He m. 6 Sept., 1817 Betsey Squires, b. 29 Jan., 1792, d. 4 Mar., 1866; she was the dau. of Stephen and Bethia (Bishop) Squires.

Artemas Flagg was a farmer all his life, and held many local offices of trust. In the War of 1812, he was a Sergeant in Capt. Hunt's Co. of Vermont militia; was a member of the Vermont Legislature in 1836-7, and was twice a member of the Convention for revising the State Constitution. He was a voluminous letter-writer, and many of his interesting letters, written in the 1830's, 40's, and 50's are still extant.

"There was not a year, during the active part of Father's life, but what he held office of some kind, by election or appointment,—selectman, assessor, road-commissioner, Justice of the Peace, and administrator in settling estates. He left an estate of $7000.; I think the same might be said of him as of Grandfather (Ebenezer⁶),—that the great amount of publick business that he did, for small pay, was a reason for his never accumulating more property,—this may be a good fault." (Extract from letter of Artemas' son Gershom H. Flagg [18] to Willard C. Flagg [65], Moro, Ills., 19 Apr., 1875).

The five children of Artemas Flagg were all noted singers, especially the eldest son Lucius H. [14], who "is said by Boston people to be one of the best bass singers in New England." (Extract from letter of 15 Apr., 1849). "Lucius, Gershom, and the girls (Mary and Caroline) are engaged in giving concerts of vocal music. They intend giving concerts at Charlotte and a number of the lake towns this week, and may travel through this state and some part of York State this summer. Azariah is a first-rate tenor singer, and I expect will join them in the fall, if they prosper and like the business. Gershom has taught singing this winter four nights in a week in Hinesburgh and Richmond. They have done considerable singing for the temperance cause in this country, but were unable to answer all the calls made on them." (Letter to Gershom Flagg [5]).

THE AZARIAH CUTTING FLAGG FAMILY 4.

[4] AZARIAH CUTTING FLAGG⁷, second child of Ebenezer⁶ and Elizabeth (Cutting) Flagg, was born 28 Nov., 1790, at Orwell, Vt., and died 24 Nov., 1873 in New York City. Was married 20 Oct., 1814 to Phoebe Maria Coe, who was born 5 Apr., 1798, and died 9 Apr., 1875.

He was apprenticed, at the age of eleven, to a printer in Burlington, Vt., serving from 1801 to 1806; in 1814 he was editor and proprietor of the Plattsburg (N. Y.) Republican. He served with distinction as a Lieut. and Quartermaster in Capt. Aiken's Co. of Riflemen, attached to the 36th Regt. of N. Y. Militia in the defense of Plattsburg, and was one of seventeen who were presented, by special act of Congress, with silver-mounted rifles for gallant service.

Azariah C. Flagg was a member of the N. Y. Legislature in 1824 and 26; was Sec'y of State from 1826 to 1833; was State Comptroller from 1833 to 1839, also from 1842 to 1847. He was Comptroller of the City of New York, 1853-9. Was one of the founders of the "Barnburner" (Freesoil) party, and opposed the U. S. Bank. For the last fourteen years of his life, he was totally blind, and was tenderly cared for by his wife and daughter.

Extract from letter of 29 Aug., 1868:—"After this irregular apprenticeship of about five years, my father made an arrangement with another printing-house for my services at a stipulated price; the payment for all extra work should be my own. I was also encouraged with the promise that with careful usage I might take books from the book-store, to read after my daily task was done. In six weeks I gained time enough to read "Rollins' Ancient History in ten volumes. From the age of 17 to 20, I was very diligent in performing my daily task and improving my mind by reading and in attending the school for three months to perfect my knowledge of arithmetic. I think I had a just appreciation of the valuable teachings of Dr. Franklin, and it was my firm resolve to adhere through life to his maxims of economy."

Azariah C. Flagg amassed a large fortune in spite of his being a politician, and an honest one at that. He died at his New York home, at No. 469 W. Twenty-third St., 24 Nov., 1873. Issue:

Upon her death, 20 May, 1890, it was found that one clause in her will (made 10 Mar., 1885) read as follows: "Ninth, I give and bequeath all the rest, residue, and remainder of the estate, both personal and real, wherever situated, of which I may die seized and possessed, unto the Nephews and Nieces of my father Azariah C. Flagg, who may then be living, to be divided among them in equal proportion, share and share alike." By the clause "who may then be living," she excluded from the inheritance a dozen families of deceased cousins, and proportionately enlarged the shares of the twenty cousins living on May 20, 1890.

THE GERSHOM FLAGG FAMILY No. 5.

[5] GERSHOM FLAGG⁷, third child of Ebenezer⁶ and Elizabeth (Cutting) Flagg, was born 26 Nov., 1792, at Orwell, Vt., and died 2 March, 1857, at Moro, Ills. His father, being a physician as well as a farmer, was absent from home much of the time, so the care of the farm fell to the three eldest sons, who were aged 11, 10, and 8, when their father moved from Orwell to Richmond, Vt. Gershom had a scanty schooling a few months in the year, and helped to clear the new farm. He had a talent for mathematics, and later was able to study surveying under John Johnson, of Burlington, Vt.; he made considerable use of this knowledge after moving to Ills., and his compass and chain, also his surveying notes and mathematical tables, are in possession of his grandson, Norman G. Flagg [71], Moro, Ills.

In the War of 1812, Gershom Flagg was a drummer-boy, and was present at the battle of Plattsburg, N. Y., 11 Sept., 1814. Forty-five years later his widow was granted a Government land-warrant for his services. He was a member of Capt. Hunt's Co., Vermont militia.

On the 23rd Sept., 1816, Gershom Flagg bade adieu to the scenes and friends of his childhood, and started West via Troy, Utica, Rochester village, through Buffalo, Erie, and Greensburg, Pa., thence to Zanesville and Columbus, Ohio. He reached his intended journey's end, Springfield, Ohio, on Nov. 8th, 1816, having traveled 898 miles in the forty-six days. Prospected in Ohio that winter, was in Harmony, O., 16 June, 1817, and in Cincinnati Aug. 3rd, 1817, when he wrote his brother Azariah as follows:—"I shall leave in a few days, to go directly to St. Louis, in the territory of Missouri. The greater part of Indiana is owned by the Indians, and I intend to go on the military bounty lands." So he left Cincinnati Oct. 19th, 1817, "on a small flat-boat, with a roof to it," floated to the mouth of the Ohio, put his trunk on board a keel-boat, and walked 174 miles across country to St. Louis, arriving Nov. 18, 1817. He had traveled in all 1794 miles, since leaving home, and found St. Louis to be a "town of 3000 inhabitants, half French and half American." While in St. Louis, Gershom Flagg helped to paint the first steam-boat that ever landed at that town.

In a letter written to his home folks on Dec. 7th, 1817, he reported that he had "located 264 acres of land in the Illinois territory, 26 miles from this place (St. Louis) and about 10 miles from the mouth of the Missouri." Staying in St. Louis one winter, he moved in the spring of 1818 to Madison Co., Ills., near the present town of Moro, where he settled on the south-east quarter of section 3 in Ft. Russell twp.; here Gershom Flagg made his permanent home, having sold his first 264 acres "for $285., being double what I paid for it." The original Gershom Flagg homestead is still (1906) owned and occupied by his direct descendants.

He boarded with a neighbor one-half mile north, John Andrus by name, rented part of his farm, and cultivated part himself, setting out a large orchard on the east side of the "Springfield road." Large tracts of adjoining land were added to the original quarter-section, his industry, frugality and business-like methods winning him a competency. Was Justice of the Peace, also was Postmaster of "Paddock's Grove" P. O. for many years, the mail being carried by stage-coach between Springfield and St. Louis.

FAMILY RECORDS

Gershom Flagg was married in Madison Co., Ills., 27 Sept., 1827 to Mrs. Jane Paddock Richmond, by Hail Mason, J. P. She was born 7 June, 1787, in Woodstock, Vt., and died 11 Dec., 1863, at Moro, Ills. She was the eldest dau. of Gaius Paddock, b. 2 Nov., 1758, in Middleborough, Mass., d. 11 Aug., 1831 in St. Louis, Mo., who "enlisted 5 Jan., 1776 in Capt. Isaac Wood's Co.;" had resided many years near Moro, Ills., where his grandson Gaius Paddock now resides (1906).

The J. Q. Adams and Jackson campaigns deeply interested Mr. Flagg, and he kept well posted on all public questions. He was strongly opposed to the State Bank policy in 1821, and fought the attempt, in 1822 and 24, to introduce slavery into Illinois. In his later years he was a member of the Whig party, and when failing eye-sight forbade his perusal of the newspapers, the political discussions of the day were read to him. A man of rugged strength of character, his convictions, once formed, were expressed in no uncertain terms. Gershom Flagg [5] is buried in the Flagg lot in the Paddock cemetery, three miles east of Moro, Ills. On his tomb-stone is the simple epitaph, "An honest man is the noblest work of God." Issue:

[65] WILLARD CUTTING FLAGG⁸, only child of Gershom and Jane (Paddock) Flagg, was born 16 Sept., 1829, at Moro, Ills., and died there 30 March, 1878. Was reared on his father's farm, and attended the district school near "Ridgeley." From 1844 to 1850, he spent the winter months in St. Louis, studying in Edward Wyman's school, in preparation for Yale College. He was graduated from Yale in the classical course in 1854, with high honors; then he returned to Moro, and took charge of his father's large farm, making a specialty of horticulture.

In 1856 and '58, Willard C. Flagg took a deep interest in the formation of the Republican party, wrote considerable campaign literature, and was a member, in 1860, of the Republican State and County Committees. Pres. Lincoln appointed him Internal Revenue Collector of the 12th Ills. district in 1862, which position he held until 1869, when he was elected to the State Senate for a four-year term. During the Civil war, Mr. Flagg was enrolling officer of Madison Co., by appointment of Gov. Yates. Was one of the founders of the Illinois Industrial University, now known as the University of Illinois, and was a trustee of that institution until his death. Spent much time in organizing the Ills. State Farmers' Association, and made numerous addresses throughout the State in denunciation of the railroad monopolies. He was an earnest advocate of "Township organization," as the best form of local self-government. In his legislative service, Mr. Flagg voted against the "Lake front" bill and the "Grab law" of 1869, and took a decided stand against monopolies. In the session of 1872, he took special interest in the revision of the Illinois school laws.

Willard C. Flagg was a man of the highest integrity and moral worth, and made his influence felt in his native County and State. He was once well described as being "firm without being stubborn; reasonable with intuitive control; kind, with severity, and charitable with prodigality. Reasons well from cause to effect; is a good judge of human nature, true to his convictions, loyal to the truth and the well-being of mankind."

He was married by Rev. W. G. Eliot, in the Church of the Messiah in St. Louis, Mo., on Feb. 13, 1856 to Sarah Smith, dau. of James and Betsey (Brown) Smith, of Proctorsville, Vt., and later of Schoolcraft, Mich. After the death of her parents in 1841 and '42, she had lived with an Aunt in Vermont, teaching school there, and later moved to St. Louis, where she made her home with a very dear Aunt Mrs. Jane (Smith) Cavender. She was born 22 Jan., 1828, near Proctorsville, Vt., and died 16 Feb., 1905, while visiting her daughter Mrs. Gillham at Wanda, Ills. Mrs. Flagg was a woman of remarkable strength of character, noted for her absolute sincerity, for her business ability and industry, and her love of home and family was her most prominent trait. She and her husband are buried in the Paddock cemetery, near Moro, Ills. Issue:

Lucy Buell

THE LUCY DOUGLAS FLAGG-BUELL FAMILY, 9.

[9] LUCY DOUGLAS FLAGG,⁷ dau. of Ebenezer⁷ and Elizabeth (Cutting) Flagg, was born 27 Dec., 1800 in Richmond, Vt., d. 25 Nov., 1867, in Jericho, Shelby Co., Ills. She was m. 12 Mar., 1823 at Cumberland Head, N. Y., by Mr. Halsey to WILLIAM BUELL of Essex, Vt., b. 2 Feb., 1801, d. 20 Nov., 1871. They left Essex in Sept., 1833 for Madison Co., Ills., via the lakes and were three weeks on the journey of 1300 miles; their first home in Ills. was a one-room log cabin without a window, and here the dau. Mary (now Mrs. Rogers) was born. The Buells moved later to Macoupin Co., then to Shelby Co., in the spring of 1847, where Mr. Buell entered a section of Government land (paying $1.25 per acre), and established a store and inn.

The privations this family endured would be considered intolerable to-day; at one time, all the children being sick, the dau. Susan died, and the mother had to perform the last sad rites without assistance and buried the body in an open field. The details of Lucy Flagg Buell's frontier life would make a most interesting story,—the visits to their neighborhood of Peter Cartwright, the prairie fires, the recurrence each autumn of the ague, the overland trips to the St. Louis market, and the advent of the Ills. Central R. R. near her home. "Mother has become quite a shoe-maker; she has made ten pr. of buckskin shoes, and made the largest share of four buckskin coats." (Extract from letter of Marilla Buell [210] to Gershom Flagg [5], 10 Jan., 1849).

Her Shelby Co. home was a story-and-half double log-cabin, with wide porches the entire length of two sides. The traders and drovers always put up over night at "Jericho", as the Buell homestead was named, midway between Shelbyville and Greenville, Ills. When work began in 1852 on the railroad-building, many civil engineers and stone-masons boarded at Jericho, among them one Joseph Strever, who later m. the dau. Melvina [211].

Lucy Flagg Buell raised five sons to manhood, four of whom served in the Union army through the war. For the last three years of her life, she was partly helpless, her right side being palsied, but was very patient in her suffering. Issue;

Eliza W. Liscum [10]

THE ELIZA WAIT FLAGG-BLISS FAMILY, 10.

[10] ELIZA WAIT FLAGG⁷, fifth daughter and eighth child of Ebenezer⁶ and Elizabeth (Cutting) Flagg, was born 11 August, 1802 in Richmond, Vermont, and died 4 March, 1841 in Madison Co., Ills. Little is known of her childhood except that she was fond of out-of-door life and occupations, and had a considerable liking for books. She seems to have had no school advantages beyond those of the common schools of her day. She was able, however, aided perhaps by her general reading, to teach a district school in Illinois about 1837 or 38.

She was married 3 February, 1825 to ORAMEL BLISS, of Essex, Vermont. They settled on a farm in the town of Jericho, Vermont, where the eldest child James was born. Within a year or two, however, they were back on the old farm on "Bliss Street," where the husband died 25 May, 1833. In the fall of 1836, the widow and three children moved to Illinois, where they occupied, for a time, a log cabin on her brother Gershom's farm in Madison Co. She married as a second husband, in May, 1838, HEMAN LISCUM, of Vermont, and the augmented family took possession of a small farm near by, which her money had bought.

After her death, leaving no issue by her second husband, her three children were taken and reared by her brother Gershom Flagg. She was a woman of strong character and of more than ordinary amiability and intelligence. Issue:

- [315] 1. James White, b. 18 Nov., 1825; d. 21 Oct., 1860, Moro, Ills., unm.

- [317] 3. Ursula Cornelia, b. 26 Oct., 1831. Family No. 317. (MORRIS).

316.

[316] WILLARD FLAGG BLISS⁸, son of Eliza [10], was born 7 Nov., 1829 on a farm in Essex, ten miles from Burlington, Vermont. In the fall of 1836, he emigrated from Vermont to

FAMILY RECORDS

Madison Co., Ills., with his mother, sister, and brother, his father having died in 1833. After the mother's death in 1841, he and his sister were taken by their uncle Gershom Flagg, who with his wife Jane Flagg took them home and reared them as their own.

In the winter of 1844-5 and for the five following winters, he and his cousin Willard Flagg attended Edward Wyman's school in St. Louis, where they were inmates of the family of James and Persis Smith. In 1850, at the earnest insistence and by the generous aid of William H. Smith of St. Louis, Willard Bliss entered the Phillips Exeter Academy, where he remained two years, the second year covering the studies of the Freshman year at Harvard. While at Exeter, he was domesticated in the family of Mrs. Elizabeth Hale Smith of Lee, the gifted widow of Judge Jeremiah Smith of the Peterboro family of that name, mother of the present Story Professor of Law at Harvard. W. F. B. and this son were room-mates, first at Exeter, then at Harvard, where he was graduated in 1855.

After graduation, he taught a year in the family of Edgar Huidekoper in Meadville, Penna., three years in the then recently founded Washington University, St. Louis, Mo., and two years in the State University of Illinois at Urbana. In 1858-9 he spent some time abroad, studying in the Universities of Göttingen and Bonn, and in traveling, at a very interesting time, in the south of Europe, mostly in Greece and Italy. He had the interesting, if not altogether agreeable, experience of being "taken up" in Argos as a dangerous character, while traveling with his Norwegian friend Karl Boe; and a month or two later, arriving in Florence, Italy on the day that Grand Duke Leopold was driven out, he was arrested as an Austrian spy with his American friend George Little, of Tuscaloosa, Ala., afterwards State Geologist of Georgia.

He was in Italy in 1859 during the short struggle in which Magenta and Solferino were fought, and the northern provinces wrested from Austria in the process of making possible a united Italy. He was at different times within both the Austrian and French lines, and also saw something of the Italian army; and in August, 1859 he saw the triumphal entry of Napoleon's "Army of Italy" into Paris.

WILLARD FLAGG BLISS [316]

FAMILY RECORDS

Since 1860, he has been engaged continuously in farming, including even the time of his two years' service at the State University in 1869 and 70. He was married 14 August, 1860 to Elizabeth Tyler of Essex, Vermont, and on January 1, 1906 he met the great calamity of his life in the loss of her, after forty-five helpful and lovely years of married life. Before her death, for considerations of health and other reasons, the family determined on making a new home near Richmond, Virginia, whither the enduring memory of the wife, mother, and grandmother has been carried and where it is enshrined, though she herself was not permitted to see the new home which her active love and sympathy bore so large a part in securing.

ELIZABETH TYLER BLISS.

ELIZABETH TYLER, wife of Willard F. Bliss, was born 5 August, 1833 in Essex, Vermont, and died 1 January, 1906 in Irving, Illinois. She was the only daughter of Loren and Emeline Tyler of Essex. She was married 14 August, 1860 to WILLARD F. BLISS, and spent the remainder of her life mainly in Illinois. Issue:

THE WILLARD PARKER FLAGG FAMILY, 12.

[12] WILLARD PARKER FLAGG⁷, tenth child and fourth son of Ebenezer⁶ and Elizabeth (Cutting) Flagg, was born 8 June, 1808 in Richmond, Vt., and died 10 August, 1877 in Rochelle, Ills. Was m. (1st) to Mrs. Lucy Cochran Lake, 28 July, 1839; she was b. 19 May, 1812, and d. 25 May, 1855. He m. (2nd) Mrs. Maria Sitterly, 5 Feb., 1857, who res. 1906 in Rochelle, Ills.

Willard P. Flagg came to the "Prairie State" in 1830, and in 1838 became one of the two original pioneers, at a point in Ogle Co., where the town of Rochelle was soon after located. From the first he took a prominent part in the affairs of the little town, where he continued to reside until his death. He was often the arbiter between disputants, who were thus saved many a lawyer's fee. As the nation approached the crisis which culminated in the Civil war, he became an ardent abolitionist, being an agent in the "Underground Railroad", in which capacity he is known to have assisted at least one slave in escaping from the land of bondage.

He possessed a magnificent baritone voice, and during those strenuous war days he was called upon from far and near, to sing the songs of hope and trust in our Union. He was a great lover of books. His children tenderly recall the group about the ample fire-place, the father reading aloud from "Uncle Tom's Cabin,"—the first copy to be brought to the village.

During his later years successive attacks of paralysis gradually sapped his strength and he lived a very retired life, but continued to be loved and is still remembered for his unassailable integrity, his warm sympathies, and as a champion of the poor and of the oppressed. [464] ALFRED MURRAY FLAGG^s, son of Willard P. [12], b. 10 July, 1848 in Rochelle, Ills., where he spent his early years. Was at Moro, Ills., with his cousin Willard C. Flagg several years, and under his supervision he prepared for college, afterwards graduating from the State University of Illinois in Champaign. Was admitted to the bar and practiced law in Dakota. Editorial work, however, proved more congenial to him, and the last years of his life were devoted to the "Duluth News Tribune," where he occupied the editorial chair. He died 1 Nov., 1904 in Duluth, Minn.

He became mentally unbalanced as the result of a severe illness, and, plunging into the lake under the hallucination that he was pursued, was drowned.

His was a most charming personality; for, united to a superb intellect, was a kindness of which his love for little children and his inability to pass harsh judgment even upon those who had bitterly wronged him, were the outward signs. One who loved him says: "The light of a noble mind went out when his reason was obscured, for it was admitted by the few who were privileged to know him well, and by the many who read his splendid editorials, that his mental gifts were phenomenal. His memory

CHAPTER V

GERSHOM FLAGG, SON OF GERSHOM FLAGG OF LANCASTER, MASS., AND HIS DESCENDANTS

1758—1906

[601] GERSHOM FLAGG⁶, (2nd), son of Gershom [1], b. 11 Apr., 1758, in Lancaster, Mass. Served in the Revolutionary War as Matross, Col. John Crane's Third Artillery Regt. Continental Troops. Records in the archives of Massachusetts give his service as follows:

(From Vol. V, page 751, Mass. Soldiers and Sailors of the Revolutionary War, published by the Secretary of the Commonwealth, Boston).

"GERSHOM FLAGG, (also given Jr.), Lancaster. Return of men raised to serve in the Continental Army from Capt. John White, Jr.'s Co., 2nd Worcester Co. Regt., dated Lancaster, Dec. 20, 1777; residence, Lancaster; engaged for town of Lancaster; joined Capt. Briant's co., Col. Crain's Regt., term 3 years; also, list of men mustered by Nathaniel Barber, Muster Master for Suffolk Co., dated Boston, March 30, 1777; Col. Crane's Regt.; also, Matross, Capt. Bryant's Co., Col. Mason's Regt.; Continental Army pay accounts for service from March 8, 1777, to Dec. 31, 1779; also, Capt. Benjamin Frothingham's co., Col. John Crane's (Artillery) Regt.; muster roll dated Springfield, Nov. 1, 1779; company stationed at Springfield; also, Capt. Bryant's co.; Continental Army pay accounts for service from Jan. 1, 1780, to March 16, 1780."

From the office of the Military Secretary, War Dept., Washington, D. C., is obtained the following record:

"GERSHOM FLAGG served as a matross in Capt. Benjamin Frothingham's Company, 3d Artillery Regiment, commanded by Colonel John Crane, Revolutionary War. His name appears on the company muster roll dated at Springfield, May 2, 1778, with remark showing that he enlisted March 8, 1777, to serve three years."

Some Continental money of his hard earning in the Revolution was kept for many years by his son James. It is probable that he spent his entire youth in Lancaster, until he enlisted in the army.

In 1789, he removed, with his family, from Mass. to Marietta, Ohio, joining the colony founded there a few months previously by Gen. Rufus Putnam and others from New England, this being the first permanent settlement in the Northwest Territory.

He saw active service in the Indian War in 1791 and 1792, during which he and his family resided in the fort. The exposure and hardships he endured brought on an attack of paralysis, or "numb palsy," from which he died in 1792, and he was buried near the fort in Marietta.

The remains of Gen. Tupper and of a few others, were removed, many years ago, from their first resting place near the fort and placed in the Mound Cemetery (first used for the purpose of burial in 1801), and it is probable that the remains of Gershom Flagg were among them.

He m. 25 June, 1778 (intentions filed 16 May, 1778), in Springfield, Mass., *Editha Hitchcock, b. 1754, dau. of Samuel (b. 9 June, 1717, d. 17 Apr., 1777) and Ruth (Stebbins) Hitchcock of Springfield, and great-great-grand daughter of Luke Hitchcock (of New Haven, 1644; d. 1 Nov., 1659, at Weathersfield), and of Deacon Samuel Chapin (of Roxbury, 1638; Springfield, 1642; d. 11 Nov., 1675). [602] JAMES FLAGG⁷, son of Gershom [601], b. 17 May, 1779, in Springfield, Mass. Served in the War of 1812 as Captain of the 5th Co., 1st Regt., 1st Brig. (Col. Samuel R. Holcomb, commanding), Ohio Militia, U. S. Service; was in camp at Burns Block House, near Mansfield, O., 30 Nov., 1812, his regiment taking part in Gen. William Henry Harrison's operations against the British and Indians in Ohio and Indiana. He was commissioned a Captain in the Ohio Militia in 1805, and authorized to raise a company, as follows:

“Marietta, Feb. 20th., 1805.

*To James Flagg.

You are hereby authorized to raise by voluntary enrollment, young men from the age of sixteen years to forty years to be formed into a Company of Light Infantry and to be attached to the first Battalion in the Second Regiment of the First Brigade and Third Division of Militia, State of Ohio.

[Signed] Ichabod Nye, Lieut. Col., Comt.”

In Aug., 1810, he was Captain of a company in the 1st Regt. (Jesse Davis, Col., Chas. Shipman, Adjt.), 1st Brig., 3rd Div., Ohio Militia. He removed, with his parents, from Massachusetts to Marietta, O., in 1789, where, though still a boy, he stood sentry during the Indian War of 1791-1795.

After his father's death, Col. Meigs, a famous Revolutionary officer, became his guardian as is shown by the following entry in the Washington Co., O., Probate Records:

“Apr. 6, 1793, appointed Return Jonathan Meigs, Esq., Guardian to James Flagg as minor at the request of Editha Flagg his mother. The Guardian with Gilbert Devol junior gave bond in the sum of three hundred dollars.”

In the Washington Co., O., Records is an old deed, showing what was probably his first real estate holding, indexed as follows:

“Rufus Putnam, &c., Deed to James Flagg.—Rufus Putnam, Menasseh Cutler, Griffin Green & Robert Oliver, conveyed to James Flagg of Marietta, Co. of Wash. & Territory of the U. S.

*This paper, several regimental orders and a number of letters written by Capt. Flagg while in the service during the War of 1812, are now in possession of his grandson, Lucius C. S. Flagg [820].

ORTHOGRAPHY of the FAMILY NAME, FLEGG-FLAGG.

The family name, as found in the English records and as spelled by the earlier members of the family in America, was FLEGG, and such was the spelling used as far back as the twelfth century. (See Chapter I). FLEGG was another mode of spelling, used often in the English records, and we even find FLEG, FLEGE, FLEGH, FLEGHT, FLEGGH, and FLIGHT to have been made use of, as the family name. But FLAGG we never find until about 1700, when our ancestors in New England seem, by common consent, to have abandoned the less euphonious FLEGG.

Concerning this change of spelling, Dr. Bond, in his History of Watertown, Mass., says: "This orthography (FLAGG) of the name has been adopted in the text, because it has become the prevalent, almost the universal, usage, for the last few generations. There is, however, very little doubt but that it is erroneous, and that the correct orthography is FLEGG. In the early records of the town (Watertown) and of the county, for eighty years or more, the name is, almost without exception, written FLEGG, with some variations, always retaining the E."

In "A Genealogical Dictionary of the First Settlers of New

FAMILY RECORDS

England," published 1860 by James Savage, Vol. II, p. 171, is found the following:

"THOMAS FLEGG (FLAGG)—In the records of Watertown the name is spelled FLEG or FLEGG, in conformity,—as in our English patronymics is so usual—with its geographical derivation, but, in general, at other places, conforming to the sound.

There exists a German family name, FLAGGE, which may easily be confused with our own family name, especially if, by a process of being Americanized, its final syllable is incorrectly silent in pronunciation.

Members of the FLEGG family, still using the ancient and correct orthography, are William Martin FLEGG, and his son James Minter FLEGG, of London, England.

"FLEGG is an old English surname, the family having its origin, tradition says, in one RAWL FLEGG, a Norse viking who ravaged the eastern coast and made settlement in Norfolk about 868. There was the seat of the family and there are located (1905) FLEGG Hall and the hundreds of East and West FLEGG, old civil divisions of the county." (Extract from article in Vermont Antiquarian, March, 1905, by Chas. Allcott Flagg, of Washington, D. C., furnished through courtesy of John Henry Flagg of New York City and of Dr. John S. Flagg of Cambridge, Mass).
